A BLOW TO TRUSTS.

The decision of the Illinois supreme court in the case against the whisky trust is a severe blow not only to the whisky trust, but to trusts of all kinds. If the law will not tolerate a whisky trust, and the decision gives a death blow to it—why may not a Standard Oil trust, a cattle-man combine or any one or all of a hundred other of those injurious organizations be annihilated by it? In his decision Judge Gibbons said:

No national purpose for such an organization can be shown consistent with an intention to allow the business to run in the natural channels, to give competition its legitimate operation, and to allow both production and price to be controlled by the natural influence of supply and demand, and the results of the information, were such as might be anticipated. The trust obtained possession of nearly all the distilleries and nearly the entire distillery products of the United States, and by selling it to dictate prices and the amount of production, and to draw to itself substantially the control of the distillery business of the country.

No, by way of illustrating how the decision applies to any and all such combines, suppose the above language to refer to let us say, the Standard Oil Trust. Not a clause nor a word need be changed in it until the second sentence is reached. This would be changed to read as follows: "The trust obtained possession of nearly all the oil wells and nearly the entire oil products of the United States, thus enabling it to dictate prices and the amount of production," etc. Further than this no change need be made to make the whisky trust decision apply to the Standard Oil company or any other such combination. It will be remembered, for instance, that the Standard Oil men recently made about $50,000,000 by "dictating prices and the amount of production."

To show the far reaching scope of this decision, the language of Attorney General Moloney of Illinois will be read with interest. He says:

It is plain from the language used by the supreme court in this decision that the Pullman Palace Car Company will meet with the same fate as the whisky trust. The language used by the court in this connection sounds the death knell of the Pullman Car Company trust, why not any other trust?

Here then is the law. It is explicit and clear. What remains is to apply it and annihilate those leeches upon the social body. At this juncture in their affairs the American people have no $50,000,000 to devote to John D. Rockefeller and his associates, nor to any other trust. Nevertheless they have just made such a donation. If, with this law in their hands, the people hesitate to apply it, they will deserve to be plundered and held as they have been by these great and illegal combinations. The law which holds in Illinois should hold anywhere. Here is law which is on the side of the people, notwithstanding the opinion to the contrary of the Attorney General whom Cleveland has elevated to the highest place in his cabinet. Now let the law be applied.

JUDGED LENIENTLY.

The esteemed brother of the Tulare Register has our forgiveness before it is asked for his rash conduct and the awful words which he uttered shortly after the issue of his paper on Thursday evening. Neither will the fact that the fire department was called out and that he was arrested for disturbing the peace and tranquility of the community be commented upon here. His conduct was something awful, but the provocation was great. We know just how he felt.

He had just finished wrapping the papers for the exchanges and foreign mail, and had dropped into his easy office chair to review at leisure the work of the morning editorial brain for that day. From between wreaths of blue and fragrant tobacco smoke he was reading an able and erudite defense of the ministry—of that body of good men who stand upon the walls of Zion for an insistent consideration—and had arrived at the eloquent peroration when his eyes became fixed upon the following sentence in the story state with which the dying codfish transfixes its captor:

What of these, compared with the comestible service of millions of men, the penetrating into carnal wildernesses armed only with kind words and beneficent deeds, the divine to a simple man which makes him a true ruler, a ruler prefer to preach Jesus to a simple people to becoming president of a college or a pampered doctor of divinity in a theocratic city?

The scene which followed, as a matter of course, beggared description, but if any fatality should result, a verdict of justifiable homicide will undoubtedly be rendered by a jury of sympathetic countrymen.

That much advertised invasion of army worms which was alleged to be moving "southward" upon this county from Pomona and other points, is rather slow in putting in its appearance. Probably the hostile suggestion that armed guards be stationed at the bridges across the San Joaquin turned them back upon the fertile fields of San Diego.

"Tus ladies, formerly our superiors now our equals," is the way a Colorado statesman proposed a toast at a banquet held in honor of the passage of the equal suffrage bill in that state. That very largely expresses an idea that is worthy of the praiseworthy consideration of the New Woman and all her charming sisters.

Ex-Governor WATER is offering free to every subscriber to his new paper, Our Nation's Crisis, a copy of his celebrated "Blood to the Brakes." If that doesn't fetch 'em it would be almost useless for the governor to get on his bronco and attempt to drag them in with a revolvable rifle.

THE IOWA STORM CAVE.
Warm weather and June wind storms are closely on hand. If your storm cave is still unaltered, you should begin to consider your own individual responsibility for the safety of your loved ones in case a wind storm arrives before your cave has been completed. Realization of personal responsibility is always helpful if it needed.—Iowa State Register.

This is the paper, we believe, that a few weeks ago expatiated at considerable length on the great danger to human life and destruction of comfort in California earthquakes and "sand storms," compared to the blizzards and cyclones of that state. The above advice to residents of the state who are responsible for the "safety of loved ones" is a better answer to that comparison than when California papers could make. When Californians are compelled to crawl into holes in the ground to avoid the death-dealing elements, and deem it necessary to build earthquake cellars, the Iowa journal will be in a position to maintain an argument on the question it has raised. Until that time, however, it had better crawl into its storm cave and stay there.

Who can account, by the way, for the fact that people will continue to live in a section of the country where a man is inconsiderate of the welfare of his family if he does not have a "storm cave" conveniently near his residence as a place of refuge from the desecration of the elements, while there is still plenty of room in California for the blizzard-blasted of all sections?

RARELY is recorded a more revolting case than one which is reported from Newman. A fellow named H. L. Barry committed a felonious assault on a 6-year-old daughter of one Stacy Boone. The father discovered the fact, and compounded the felony with larceny on the payment of $75. Both of the wretches were arrested. They, briefly stated, are the facts, and words can add nothing to their shamefulness. It seems impossible that there could be a more depraved wretch on the face of the earth than the one who would outrage a 6-year-old girl, but if there be such a one he is the father who condones such an offense for money. That one of these brutes is now safe in jail and the other is safe and at large on bond argues much for the peace and law-abiding spirit of the people of Newman. It would not be true in all communities.

The Madera cannery will begin operations next week, and will have sufficient capacity to handle the fruit grown in that locality.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED.

The Closing of the City Schools.

Address by Mr. Highton—Exercises

of the Eighth Grade at the Advent Church.

The graduating class of the Fresno high school received diplomas at the Barton opera house last night in the presence of an audience which filled all parts of the building. The graduates formed a semi-circle on the stage with the convalescing facing the audience.

Among those on the platform were Rev.

D. H. Gillan, County Superintendent

Kirk, Professor Heaton, Church, Monroe, Gallagher, Eden and Cummings of the Board of Education, and Dr. J. L.

Maupin. Scores of beautiful floral arrangements adorned the front of the platform.

After prayer by the Rev. D. H. Gillan and an address by the Barton orchestra, Professor Heaton said they had met to celebrate the fifth commencement exercises of the Fresno high school.

The school began in the K-street building with a small membership. Its growth has been regular and constant,

both in numbers and the quality of work done. At the present time the school has 150 members, the second year of its existence. The school is recognized to the State University, and since then its graduates have been admitted to both universities. This community has reason to feel proud of the country of the high school and its many difficulties. Professor Heaton went on to speak of the value of laboratory work and manual training. Special facilities have been prepared for the labor in the morning high school, and he hoped that in the coming year the school would be organized on a new basis with a larger corps of teachers.

Professor Heaton concluded by introducing the speaker of the evening, Mr.

Henry E. Highton of the San Francisco

bar. (Applause.)

Mr. Highton apologized for an imposition, which was pointedly evident,

but every word of his brief address drove into the hearts of the hearers. He paid a tribute to the magnificent audience assembled, and then said: "Edu-

THE PORTUGUESE HOTEL

IT GOES UP IN A FIERCE BLAZE.

Several Accidents Delay the Fire Department—The Loss and Insurance.

The Portuguese hotel on K street, between Mariposa and Fresno, was burned to the ground last night between 10 and 11 o'clock. A wind was blowing at the time and the building was quickly consumed. The fire department was slow in getting to work, but this was the result of accidents.

When the fire started someone ran to engine house No. 1 and rang the bell for a general alarm. This could not be heard at engine house No. 2 or at the chemical house, the firemen being asleep. A moment or so later, however, a telephone message was sent to them and they quickly responded.

A new hose had lately been put on at engine No. 1, and when the fireman attempted to snap the collar on him he plunged forward, jumping from under the hose and falling on the ground. The hose broke twice, and this accident also delayed the quenching of the flames.

The blacksmith shop just north of the hotel was not damaged, as the wind blew the flames in the opposite direction. The building was a two-story structure, the lower part being a restaurant and the upper part a hotel. When the fire was finally put out, and the engines were getting ready to return to their homes, another alarm was sounded for a small fire in an outbuilding in the rear of Barrett-Hicks Company's store on I street. It was put out without the assistance of the department.

The Portuguese hotel was run by Frank Serpa, and the building was owned by Constable William Shaw. Serpa's loss was about $1200, and Shaw's loss was about $400, partially covered by insurance.

The hotel was full of lodgers, but all escaped. The fire started in the kitchen, but no one knows how. One of the lodgers was awakened by the smoke, and called the others up.

PERSONAL.

Judge W. M. Conley of Madera is in town.

H. J. Jacobsen is down from the coast.

George B. Graham went to the coast this morning.

William Haxleton and wife of Kings River are in town.

L. L. Gray went to the bay city on this morning's train.

Ben G. Winters returned from the Bay City on last evening's train.

William Prince, who has been visiting his brother, P. B. Prince, and family, returned to his home in Jamez yesterday.

Hon. E. T. Cosper, a prominent attorney of Tulare, with his wife, was in the city yesterday en route to Oleaner to attend the Congressional association.

Rev. F. D. Wagon, pastor of the Congregational church at Tulare, passed through Fresno yesterday morning to attend the Congressional association at Oleaner.

A party for the East.

A party of seven ladies left Fresno this morning for the eastern states by the Santa Fe. They were the older Mrs. Burleigh, Mrs. King, a daughter of Judge Bailey, who goes to Rio Janeiro, South America; Mrs. J. W. Shattuck and mother, Mrs. Warrington, Miss Cora Howell and Mrs. Johnston. Mrs. Elsworth and Miss Pilbury will join the party at Tulare.

Where Men Play With Serenity.

From the Standard Sentinel.

As a matter of fact no man can live so rightly, honestly and uprightly that he will rarely be a failure. —Fresno Republican.

O, beware! You're talking through your hat. Serenity is a plaything (?) with thousands of "follies" over this way.

Dangerously Ill.

A telegram from Sacramento announces that Mrs. Van Doren, formerly Miss Maud Bearden of this city, is lying at the point of death. Her mother and sister have gone to her bedside.

Well-to-do Girls.

Well-to-do girls show no diminution in their fondness for aquatic sports. There has just been a jump from the works of a Connecticut boatbuilder a fine eight oared barge, intended for the use of the class of '25. The barge is described as 45 feet long, 3 feet beam, and is constructed throughout of Spanish cedar, lap steamed, with copper fastenings. The fittings are made up of patent roller slides, swivel rowlocks and adjustable foot braces. It sounds like a racing boat, but it has not been built for that purpose, as the students are not permitted to race on the lake near the college, but it is safe to say there will be some pleasant and not too slow spins taken in the new barge.

Progressive Moral Women.

The newest of "new women" are to be found at Hayes Bay, New Zealand, where a parliament of Maori women has just been sitting. The parliament passed resolutions to have nothing further to do with the native lands court, to cease selling lands and to have no further routing or surveying of lands. The chairwoman, in bringing the meeting to a close, said:

"We find, after many years, men's endeavors to carry out our interests have failed, and therefore we women have formed a parliament or committee of our own, and we are going to do what we can. Our lands are slipping away from us into the hands of the government, and therefore we must protect ourselves."

As all the agents and some of the papers in this vicinity have been "roasting" me, and the old firm of Conklin & Lowrey, for issuing, during the past seven years, policies in the Phoenix of Brooklyn, which contain an "expense clause in addition to the 'common short rate clause' for cancelling, I will say that all such policies in this and Phoenix Insurance company of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be cancelled at the expiration of their term and rewritten in a stronger company at "cut rates" on presentation to Mr. W. N. Rotter, 1011 J street, Fresno. E. J. Lowrey.

Two Reasons.

Sir William Drummond, finding himself one evening outside a tavern—perhaps the historic Mermaid—peeped in to see if by any chance a "wit" could be found. He was in progress. One of the company spied him and dragged him into the room, where he found assembled round the table Ben Jonson, Michael Drayton, Sir Robert Carr and Sir William Alexander. In another moment company he passed several hours, and when the time came to pay the reckoning the company fell to rhyming about it. Of all the rhymes the following by Sir William Drummond was voted the best:

I, Drayton, Saw you four sheep, A bunch of you four there, The reckoning is five shillings; If each of you be willing, 'Tis fifteen pence apiece.

More than 100 years afterward Allan Cunningham tells this story of Robert Burns. Strolling one day in Chamberlain, the poet lost his friends, and thinking to find them at a certain tavern he popped his head in at the door. Seeing no one there but three strangers, he apologized and was about to retire when one of the strangers called out, "Come in, Johnny Broom." This invitation the surviving poet readily accepted and spent a very pleasant time with his newly found companions. As the conversation began to flag it was proposed that each should write a verse and place it together with two and six under the candlestick, the best poet to take the half crown, while the unsuccessful rhymers were to settle the bill among them. According to Cunningham, Burns obtained the stakes by writing:

Here am I, Johnny Broom; And these three sheep saw me, And these three sheep saw me, Will pay for their three, And so Johnny Broom goes free.

—London Standard.

What Makes a Good News Reporter.

One of the best reporters I ever knew was a man who could not spell four words correctly to save his life, and his verb did not always agree with the subject in person and number, but he always got the facts so exactly, and he saw the pictures, the interesting and important aspect of it so vividly that it was worth another man's while, who possessed the knowledge of grammar and spelling, to go over the report and write it out. Story, that was a man who had genius. He had a talent that most intelligent and he got his news in the most reliable way. In spite of his lack of grammar, because, after his work had been done over by a scholar, it was really beautiful.

But any man who is sincere and earnest, and not always thinking about himself, can learn to be a good reporter. He can learn to ascertain the truth. He can acquire the habit of seeing. When he looks at a fire, what is the most important thing about that fire? Here, let us say, are five houses burning. Which is the greatest? Whose story is that which is burning, and who has met with the greatest loss? Has any individual or individual been injured? Are there any very interesting circumstances about the fire? How did it occur? Was it like Chicago, where a cow kicked over a spirit lamp and burned up the city? All these things the reporter has to judge about. He is the eye of the paper, and he is there to see which is the vital fact in the story and to produce it, tell it, write it out. —Charles A. Dana in McClure's Magazine.

Professor Loomis' Good Shot.

The Hon. F. D. Allen possesses a unique souvenir of his college days at Yale of which he is justly proud, and which he treasures very carefully. It is only a plain bit of cardboard with a hole in the center, but it has a history, for it is a memorial of the expert marksmanship of Professor Loomis, the famous mathematician.

One day in the classroom Professor Loomis, in illustrating the principle of the air gun, shot at the card as a target across the room. The old gentleman was a bit proud of his skill and the boys knew it. Were he ever to miss his aim, they would be extremely delighted and on this occasion they thought they had caught him at last, for the second time he shot at the card it was apparent that no other hole had been made in it. The class had of course assumed that the card had been hit and he had laughed merrily at the professor. But the latter quietly picked up the little target and called attention to the fact that the original perforation was now enlarged, the second hole having struck the edge of the hole first made.

There was never any doubt after that about Professor Loomis being a crack shot, and Frank Allen estimated himself lucky in securing the card. That was over 20 years ago, and he has the card yet. —Boston Record.

Covers For Dainty Books.

Useful as well as ornamental covers for books and magazines may be made out of linen, silk or brocade, and subsequently decorated, writes Florence Barrett in The Ladies' Home Journal.

How to protect the lovely covers of an edition of books while we read and enjoy the book is answered by these temporary covers. For George Eliot's "Romola" bound in white and gold, make one of scarlet moire, with the name "Romola," and the design on the cover repeated in gold thread. For Browning bound in white and stamped with sweet peas, an appropriate cover would be gray moire, on which is embroidered a branch of apple blossoms with a tiny brown thrush on the branch. For the poets a line from their works—from Longfellow, for instance:

The gentle wind, a sweet and passionate wooer, Kisses the sleeping leaf.

For Hood:

Boughs are daily rifled By the gusty winds, And the book of nature Is the fruit of their theft.

For Scott:

I cannot tell how the truth may be, I say the tale no twice said to me.

Kidney.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from kidney trouble for two or three years. I would have to get up in the night to void my urine from ten to fifteen times. My system was deranged, and I became very thin and nervous. No appetite, bowels constipated. I have taken two bottles and gained fifteen pounds. Sleep well. Have to get up about three times during night and am very much better in every respect. Will continue to take your Vegetable Sarsaparilla, for believe it will entirely cure me.

The full front of the waist is laid in a box-pleat over a lining fitted with the usual number of tucks, and the dress-fitting flared skirt is excellently fitted and becoming. Our model is of tan colored crepe and brown and gold silk and wool novelty goods, with brown velvet for the collar and belt, and brown and gold passementerie. This design admits of effective combinations and can be used with any style of skirt.
